Bombay Jayshree's Son & Disciple Amrit Ramnath's Impeccable Concert

By Bhuvana Dinesh

The 26th Brahmotsavam festival of Sri Anantha padmanabhaswamy temple at Adyar had a series of concerts in their Annual Music Festival.

Recently the young talented Amrit Ramnath, son and disciple of the renowned musician Smt. Bombay Jayshree Ramnath enthralled the audience with his mellowed toned voice.

He started the concert with Nadha Sudha Rasa a Thiagarajar kriti in Arabhi. This was followed by a thiruppavai in sankarabharanam elaborately with neravals rendered at ease.

An alapana in Lathangi which was very well supported by the violinist young Madhan Mohan preluded Marivere a composition of Pattnam Subramania Iyer. He started with Dharalonaneesaati and neravals were aesthetic in this sahithyam.

An elaborate Suratti alapana was followed by Dikshithar kriti, srivenkatagirisham in which the nuances of the raga was deep.

A brief enthusiastic thani aavarthanam by the young upcoming Mridangist Aaduthurai Guruprasadh was enjoyable.

Post Thaniavarthanam Amrit rendered, chinnanajirukiliye which was soul stirring, a soothing Gopalakagokula in behag and a subdued oraghuveera in Desh.

It's all in the gene and this prodigy, Amrit who is into music from his 6 years of age is keen to reach heights in carnatic music though he is fullfledged in western compositions too.

His style of rendition was adorable and this musically inclined youngster is bound to reach greater heights with his consistent hardwork.

This young knowledgeable team of musicians of AMRIT, MADHAN MOHAN & AADUTHURAI GURUPRASADH were blessed to be in the temple series concert during the Brahmotsavam which would positively take them to dizzy heights.

Sleep is one of the main pillars of health and yet most neglected one. World Sleep Day is held the Friday before Spring Vernal Equinox of each year to celebrate sleep and to proffer a call to action on essential matters in connection with sleep, including medicine, education, social aspects and driving. This year World Sleep Day will be observed on 13th of March. Every year the World Sleep society originates a slogan as an oath for better global sleep health. World Sleep Day 2020 will incorporate the slogan, 'Better Sleep, Better Life, Better Planet'. It is a known fact that sleep problems are no less an epidemic and it is estimated to affect health and further on the quality of life of an astounding 45% of the world population. Unfortunately, only one third of the affected seek medical attention for the same. So the slogan is meant to emphasize on how improved sleep health can affect an individual at personal level and then further on the world around the person.

What Is Sleep Health?

Sleep health is a multidimensional pattern of sleep-wakefulness, adapted to individual, social, and environmental demands, that promotes physical and mental well-being. Good sleep health has various dimensions:

One can

Good sleep health is characterized by subjective satisfaction, appropriate timing, adequate duration, high efficiency, and sustained alertness during waking hours. If any of these dimensions are not satisfactory the person might be subjected various negative consequences.

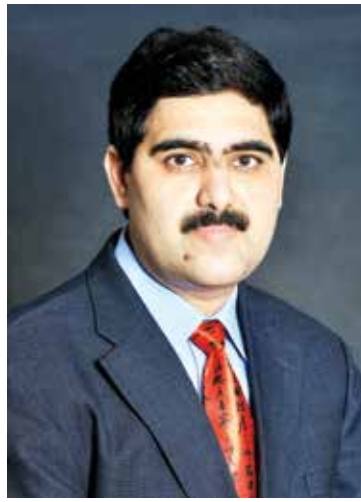

◆ Sleep duration: The total amount of sleep obtained per 24 hours

◆ Sleep continuity or efficiency: The ease of falling asleep and returning to sleep

◆ Timing: The placement of sleep within the 24-hour day

◆ Alertness/sleepiness: The ability to maintain attentive wakefulness

◆ Satisfaction/Quality: The subjective assessment of "good"

or "poor" sleep
Better sleep for better life

Poor sleep has obvious short term complications like reduced attention span, memory recall and learning, fatigue, drowsiness, drowsy driving mood disturbances, etc. Unknown to many, poor sleep can have a multitude of long term consequences like obesity, diabetes, weakened immune systems, some cancers and even psychological conditions like depression, anxiety and psychosis. So it is obvious that good sleep has a direct relationship with our quality of life. Surprisingly, poor sleep quality also includes excessive sleep. Studies have shown that sleeping less than six hours and more than nine hours can have negative impact on quality of life. Poor sleep and lowered quality of life can form a vicious cycle breaking of which is crucial for better life.

Better sleep for better planet

Various environmental calamities like grounding of the Exxon Valdez oil tanker in Alaska and the chemical plant disaster in Bhopal, India have been attributed to sleepiness at work related to sleep deprivation. Drowsy driving or operation of heavy machinery in sleep deprived state have been well known to be associated with calamities which did not have just human casualties but also negative impact on environment. Liborio Parrino the Chair of the World Sleep Day Committee voiced that increased sleep periods can promote planet health through less consumption of fuel, electricity, food and oxygen. Again if more number of people sleep better and function better the positive impact that they can put on this world is also going to be better in quantity and quality.

How does one get good sleep health?

Sleep health begins with sleep hygiene. Sleep hygiene is nothing but healthy sleeping habits. Sleep hygiene not only prevents but also improves already existing sleep disorders. At societal level, awareness programmes are to be conducted to promote healthy sleep and knowledge about various sleep disorders beyond commonly known sleep deprivation. These programmes should stress on the need to seek medical attention for the same especially among the youth who are worst hit. At national levels, there should be legislation related to sleep health and sleep disorders for e.g. screening procedures for driving license applicants, upper limit for working hours during a shift, etc.

Nithra Institute of Sleep Sciences on World Sleep Day

Nithra Institute of Sleep Sciences aims at spreading the word of sleep health and how to attain it. On the occasion of World Sleep Day, we at Nithra will be conducting various activities to go in to the public, generate awareness about sleep health and provide whoever approaches us solution to their sleep related queries. To celebrate World Sleep day, let us all take an oath to improve the sleep health of ourselves and our beloved and thereby help build a better planet.

Co Living Concept becoming popular in Chennai Co-living Convene held

The first edition of 'Co-living Convene' was held to make all stake holders understand how this unique concept is being embraced by every stakeholder in the housing community. A new ecosystem for living in the future is being propelled aggressively by Zolo. "Co-living is one of the most viable and sustainable ways of living, that we can create for the future" says Dr. Nikhil Sikri, Co-founder and CEO of Zolo stays. The co-living market size across India's top 30 cities is expected to more than double by 2025 to USD13.92 billion from current USD6.67 billion.

Zolo currently works with 500+ builders and owners to create sustainable and affordable living solutions for students and working professionals across multiple cities in the country. Zolo is present in 10 cities and scale up to 20 cities in next 24 months.

The panel discussion titled 'The present and future of co-living' was very informative and absorbing. Mr. Ajit Kumar Chordia, MD - Olympia Group; Mr. Ranjeeth Rathod, MD - DRA Group; Mr. Jaggannathan, MD - Ramaniyam; Mr. Mehul Doshi, Director - Doshi Housing; Mr. K. Shivashankar, Principle Architect - Eskay Design; Dr. Nikhil Sikri, Co-founder and CEO - Zolo and Ms. Mridula Shivashankar, Architect - Eskay Design made up the esteemed panel. Mr. Sanjay Chugh, City Head & Senior VP - Anarock moderated the discussion.

All the builders unanimously endorsed this paradigm shift and said that business has not been affected badly, in fact grown positively because we took the right decision at the right time thanking Zolo for their cooperation and support.

According to industry estimates, thousands of housing units are unsold and lie vacant across several cities in India. This could be attributed to three big reasons which include a societal shift among the consumers who no longer have ownership as priority, mistrust that owners have of tenants and lack of innovation on the part of builders'. This deadlock can be resolved by reinventing the business model and going for the Co-Living option.

Mambalam Sisters Lead Singers At Thyagaraja Utsavam, Belgium

By Kanaga

The Thyagaraja Utsavam Belgium organized by Indiraga, catering to Carnatic music enthusiasts based in Europe was held recently at Leuven, Belgium. The event was very well-received - the biggest draw was the Mambalam Sisters from Chennai titling the event as lead singers of the Pancharatna kriti rendition parampara.

The event presented the best of Indian culture and tradition, bringing the Thiruvaiyaru setting to the heart of Europe - the beautiful altar to the Trinity of Carnatic music, winged on either side by musicians, ardent listeners at close proximity and young and old alike resplendent in their colourful Indian attire. The Belgian spirit was equally present in the punctuality of the event and the spirit of pan-European integration - with artists and audience representing 7 countries from around the world.

The event was aptly opened by the next generation - children from the Indian diaspora in Belgium, performing Carnatic music. Violin performances by children were a new addition to the format this year.

This was followed by the true experience of the Aaradhana - the rendition of the Pancharatna Krithis (PRK), expertly led by the Mamabalam Sisters, joined by talented local singers and ably supported by instrumentalists, which was interspersed with crisp short explanation of the krithis and the overall sense that Saint Thyagabrahmam wanted to cultivate in our minds through his krithis. The combination of seasoned vocalists with vibrant percussionists hailing from Belgium, Nederland, UK, India, Reunion Island, France and Denmark created an energized atmosphere that kept the audience captivated and nodding their heads.

The highlight of the evening was the Carnatic music concert by the Mambalam Sisters supported on mirudangam by Balakumar Paramalingam, all the way from Paris, and local talent, Harini Jayashankar, on violin. They mesmerised the audience with several popular songs from a variety of Carnatic composers, including Yamanalli Kaananendu (Purandaradasar), Muddugare Yashoda (Annamacharya) and Dhanashree Thillana (Swati Thirunal). Bharathiyar's Chinnanchirukiliye was the icing on the cake, bringing back golden memories for the adults and capturing the hearts of the young, who settled in the front row to listen. The audience, avidly enjoying the magical ambience, were loathe to let the evening come to an end so soon which was still the feeling even after 4hrs of its run-time.

The event was brought to a close with a neivedhyam to Saint Thyagaraja and the distribution of prasadam to the audience.

FORTIS MALAR HOSPITAL CELEBRATES INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S DAY

On the occasion of International Woman's Day, Fortis Malar Hospital organized a health and entertainment event for their nurses and patients along with the doctors at the hospital premises. The event focused on creating awareness on the need for women to listen to their bodies, protect their heart and maintain overall wellness in their daily lives. Dr. Madhu Sankar N Senior Consultant & HOD - Cardiothoracic & Vascular Surgery, Heart & Lung Transplant, Fortis Malar Hospital, Dr. Anto Sahayaraj R, Senior Consultant Cardiothoracic Surgery, Fortis Malar Hospital and Dr. Nithya Ramamurthy, Senior Consultant, Gynaecology, Fortis Malar Hospital addressed the gathering. Studies have shown that there has been a steady increase in cardiac related ailments among women in the recent years. In an attempt to address this growing trend, Fortis Malar Hospital hosted an awareness secession as part of their International Women's Day 2020 celebrations. The session educated and encouraged women on various aspects of wellness, especially on cardiac well-being. As women are indispensable to the environments they live and work in, it is important for them to cultivate a habit of self-care, a critical routine that almost every woman puts off as a last priority.

Commenting on the activity, Dr. Madhu Sankar said "We are extremely delighted to have organized this activity in order to celebrate the significance and salute the excellence and spirit of women. When compared to men women seem to pay very less attention to their health. Cardio Vascular Disease has been considered since times immemorial to be a man's domain and there is a notion that women are relatively protected from it but studies have proved that CVD is the major cause of death among women. Hence its important that women also take regular health checkup and maintain a healthy lifestyle."

As a part of the celebrations Fortis Malar Hospital in collaboration with premier beauty salon Green Trends conducted an exclusive makeover activity to make participating women feel special and good. This activity was aimed at providing grooming experience for nurses and other women staff who are working round the clock for the patients and hardly have any time for themselves. The event acknowledged the contributions of women to Fortis Malar Hospital's success and recognized their dedication and relentless hard work in the care of the ailing.
